

Figure S3: The interface of the prototype designed based on the result of open card sorting. The process of analysis is reflected in the order of stages and how the information was presented. Each stage address questions assigned to the category.